Quotes and Notes

"Somehow we are always grasping after what is greater, and the empty honors of life are always persuading our weak minds to vault up toward a more glorious position. In order, therefore, to save ourselves from this disease and obtain a final relief from such a loathsome passion – for the passion of vainglory is a mere fraud and nothing less – let us engrave on our inmost hearts the memory of Christ, the King of all, washing his disciples feet, to teach us also to wash one another's feet. For in this way, every tendency to arrogance will be restrained and every form of worldly pride will depart from among us."

- Cyril of Alexandria (375-444), Commentary on the Gospel of John

"What is more contrary to expectation than this, what more awe-inspiring? He who is clothed with light as with a garment is girded with a towel. He who held the waters in the clouds and sealed the abyss with his fearsome name is bound about by a belt. He who gathers the waters of the sea like a wineskin pours water in a bowl. He who covers his upper chambers with waters, with water washed the feet of the disciples. He who measured heaven with his hands' span and holds the earth in his grasp, with his undefiled palms wiped off the feet of servants. He for whom 'every knee bends, of those in heaven, and on earth and under the earth' bowed his neck to attendant servants."

- Theophilus of Alexandria (d.412), "Sermon on the Mystical Supper"

"It is those who have been humbled at the cross, and come to Christ as helpless sinners seeking his cleansing, who are the raw material of the community of humble servants. The cross is both the way of salvation and the key to community."

- Bruce Milne, The Message of John

"Knowledge is not entitled to be called true, unless it produces such an effect on believers as to lead them to conform themselves to their Head."

- John Calvin (1609-1664), Commentary on John
