"As is common for Paul, he concludes his letter to the Thessalonian church with a litany of exhortations established on the truths of the gospel he has set forth throughout his letter. The imperatives of the Christian life—what we are called to do as we follow Christ by faith—are founded on and flow from the indicatives of the Christian life—who we are in Christ by faith. Moreover, every imperative in the Christian life is provided to us as a gracious admonition from God so that we might glorify him and enjoy him as we live the free and abundant life we have in Christ—who is the way, the truth, and the life (John 14:6)."

- The Gospel Transformation Bible (1 Thessalonians 5:12-28)

"I believe that prayer is the measure of the man, spiritually, in a way that nothing else is, so how we pray is as important a question as we can ever face."

- J. I. Packer, My Path of Prayer

"Since our weakness is such that it has to be supported by many aids, and our sluggishness such that it needs to be goaded, it is fitting each one of us should set apart certain hours for this exercise."

- John Calvin (1509-1564), Institutes of the Christian Religion

"We do not drift into spiritual life; we do not drift into disciplined prayer. We will not grow in prayer unless we plan to pray. That means we must self-consciously set aside time to do nothing but pray. What we actually do reflects our highest priorities. That means we can proclaim our commitment to prayer until the cows come home, but unless we actually pray, our actions disown our words. This is the fundamental reason why set times for prayer are important: they ensure that vague desires for prayer are concretized in regular practice."

- D. A. Carson, Praying with Paul

"As each day passes, the end of my life becomes ever nearer, and my sins increase in number. You, Lord, my creator, know how feeble I am, and in my weakness, strengthen me; when I suffer, uphold me, and I will glorify you, my Lord and my God."

- Ephrem the Syrian (306-373)

We are really glad you could be with us this morning. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask our pastor or one of the elders. They would be glad to help you in any way they can. You can call or reach us at
