Quotes and Notes

"The new is in the old concealed; the old is in the new revealed."

- Augustine of Hippo (354-430), On the Spirit and the Letter

"The priestly theology of the Old Testament appears to us at first glance as elitist and violent. Our worship experience is quite distant from the blood of numerous sacrifices performed by ornately dressed priests in a specifically designated holy place on certain consecrated days. On closer examination, though, we will gain profound theological insight and practical wisdom by studying these ancient priestly texts."

- Tremper Longman III, Immanuel in Our Place

"Most merciful God,
we confess that we have sinned against You
in thought, word, and deed,
by what we have done,
and by what we have left undone.
We have not loved thee with our whole heart;
we have not loved our neighbors as ourselves.
We are truly sorry and we humbly repent.
For the sake of thy Son Jesus Christ,
have mercy on us and forgive us;
that we may walk in thy ways,
to the glory of thy Name. Amen."

- The Book of Common Prayer

Q: "Are transgressions of the law equally heinous?"

A: Some sins in themselves, and be reason of several aggravations, are more heinous in the sight of God than others."

- The Westminster Shorter Catechism, Question 83 (1647)

"My memory is nearly gone. But I remember two things: that I am a great sinner, and that Christ is a great Saviour."

- John Newton (1725-1807), Letter to a Friend

"This section underscores both the purity and the mercy of the Lord. Ancient Israelites thought of sin as something that was defiling, not only to themselves, both also to the Lord's holy dwelling place, the tent of meeting. Because of the Lord's great purity, he could not permit such defilement to exist in the midst of his holy camp. But because of his great mercy, he could not help but provide a way for his people to deal with this defilement: the purification offering."

- Jay Sklar, Leviticus
