Quotes and Notes

"The Son of God, the second person of the Trinity, being very and eternal God, of one substance and equal with the Father, did, when the fullness of time had come, take upon Him man's nature, with all the essential properties, and common infirmities of a man, yet without sin; being conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit, in the womb of the virgin Mary, of her substance. So that two whole, perfect, and distinct natures, the Godhead and the manhood, were inseparably joined together in one person, without conversion, composition, or confusion. This person is very god, and very man, yet one Christ, the only Mediator between God and man."

- Westminster Confession of Faith VIII:2 (1647)

"In a wonderful manner he began to be what we are, while continuing to be what he had been, assuming our nature in such a way that he himself would not lose what he had been."

- Bede (673-735), Homilies on the Gospels

"The Word is born a child. It is only right that we should be astounded... Why has the Son of God become man but in order to make all men sons of God?"

- Bernard of Clairvaux (1090-1153), "The Nativity"

"Were he not indeed true God, he could apply no remedy. Were he not indeed true man, he could show no example."

- Leo the Great (d.461), Sermon 21 Leo the Great: Sermons

"Veiled in flesh the Godhead see;

hail th'incarnate Deity,

pleased with us in flesh to dwell,

Jesus, our Immanuel."

- Charles Wesley (1707-1788), "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing"
