Quotes and Notes

"The Psalmist had said that the hand of God was extended on all sides to defend his Church. But as we are disposed to draw the divine promises to our own advantage, in the way of interpreting them as securing our exemption from all trouble, we are here warned that the guardianship of God does not secure us from being sometimes exercised with the cross and afflictions, and that therefore the faithful ought not to promise themselves a delicate and easy life in this world, it being enough for them not to be abandoned of God when they stand in need of his help."

-John Calvin (1509-1564), Commentary on the Psalms

"We wander like lost sheep, true; but he is a faithful shepherd who pursues us relentlessly. We have our ups and downs, zealously believing one day and gloomily doubting the next, but he is faithful. We break our promises, but he doesn't break his. Discipleship is not a contract in which if we break our part of the agreement he is free to break his; it is a covenant in which he establishes the conditions and guarantees the results."

-Eugene Peterson (1932-2018), A Long Obedience in the Same Direction

"The Lord is around his people! Well, if that doesn't help then what will? Isn't it enough that so many angels build a wall? He wants them there himself, and not just in the thunder, but just everywhere. He wants to be the skies over us, the walls next to us, and the pavement beneath us, so that if the devil would shoot at us, it is as if he shoots at God himself. These are immense and impressive promises, but our confidence is so small and limited."

-Martin Luther (1483-1546), Lectures on the Psalms, 1532-1533

"Lord, I find the relentless transitions and changes of life exhausting. But you do not change, and you are my dwelling place. Help me calm my heart through this truth. 'For his mercies, they endure; Ever faithful, ever sure.' Amen."

-Tim and Kathy Keller, The Songs of Jesus
