Quotes and Notes

"(This is) One of the shortest psalms to read but one of the longest to learn."

- Charles Spurgeon (1832-1894), Morning and Evening

"These words, which paint the picture of a little child's contented dependence on its mother, seem to anticipate our Lord's insistence on the necessity of a child-like humility."

- John Stott (1921-2011), Favorite Psalms

"In this (David) teaches us a very useful lesson, and one by which we should be ruled in life – to be contented with the lot which God has marked out for us, to consider what he calls us to, and not to aim at fashioning our own lot, to be moderate in our desires, to avoid entering upon rash undertakings, and to confine ourselves cheerfully within our own sphere, instead of attempting great things."

- John Calvin (1509-1564), Commentary on the Psalms

"That is what Psalm 131 nurtures: a quality of calm confidence and quiet strength which knows the difference between unruly arrogance and faithful appreciation, knows how to discriminate between infantile dependency and childlike trust, and chooses to aspire and to trust - and to sing, 'Enough for me to keep my soul tranquil and quiet like a child in its mother's arms, as content as a child that has been weaned.'"

- Eugene Peterson (1932-2018), A Long Obedience in the Same Direction

"Lord, you tell me to bring you my needs. But help me also to rest in your presence, joyfully content to just be with you. Sometimes give me that level of nearness and love. I need it so much. Amen."

-Tim and Kathy Keller, The Songs of Jesus

We are really glad you could be with us this morning. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask our pastor or one of the elders. They would be glad to help you in any way they can. You can call or reach us at: www.clarksvillepca.org.
