Quotes and Notes

"Ancient records [from Thyatira] indicate the presence there of many trade guilds. Archeologists have found inscriptions that mention guilds of woolworkers, linen workers, makers of outer garments, dyers, leatherworkers, tanners, potters, bakers, slave dealers and bronzesmiths. Such guilds combined some of the features of our modern trade unions with certain religious features. Banquets of the members of the guild often took place within a pagan temple or shrine, where an animal was offered to the gods and then eaten by the members of the guild.

This obviously put Christians in a difficult dilemma. If they did not participate in such feasts and ceremonies of the guild, they would be unable to make a living. If they did participate, they were being unfaithful to the Lord."

- "Breaking the Code," Bruce M. Metzger
