Quotes and Notes

"The character of God is behind all his commandments. Among the sensual and foolish deities of antiquity, no god could ground all moral duty in his divine character; only the God of Israel could."

- R. Laird Harris (1911-2008), The Expositor's Bible Commentary - Leviticus

"What does holy mean? When the angels cry "Holy, holy, holy is the Lord Almighty" (Isa. 6:3; cf. Rev. 4:8), do they mean "Moral, moral, moral is the Lord Almighty"? Or "Separate, separate, separate is the Lord Almighty"? Just to ask such questions demonstrates how inadequate such common definitions of holy really are.

At its core, holy is almost an adjective corresponding to the noun God. God is God; God is holy. He is unique; there is no other. Then, derivatively, that which belongs exclusively to him is designated holy. These may be things as easily as people: certain censers are holy; certain priestly garments are holy; certain accouterments are holy, not because they are moral, and certainly not because they are themselves divine, but because in this derivative sense they are restricted in their use to God and his purposes, and thus are separate from other use. When people are holy, they are holy for the same reason: they belong to God, serve him and function with respect to his purposes."

- D. A. Carson, For the Love of God (vol. 1)

"The chapter is headed with the motto of this half of Leviticus: Be holy because I, the Lord your God, am holy. The rest of the chapter dispels any idea that holiness in the OT was merely a matter of ritual purity. It was to be displayed in every corner of practical life—from the corners of your beard to the corners of your fields. Holiness, therefore, was not something that you pursued by retreating from everyday life into some religious sanctum. Holiness meant transforming everyday life by the quality of behaviour that was utterly different from the surrounding ways of the world."

- Christopher J. H. Wright, New Bible Commentary - Leviticus

"We must make conscience of obeying God's precepts. We are not to pick and choose our duty, but must aim at standing complete in all the will of God. And the nearer our lives and tempers are to the precepts of God's law, the happier shall we be, and the happier shall we make all around us, and the better shall we adorn the gospel."

- Matthew Henry (1662-1714), Commentary on the Bible

We are really glad you could be with us this morning. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask our pastor or one of the elders. They would be glad to help you in any way they can. You can call or reach us at: www.clarksvillepca.org.
