Quotes and Notes

"All for Jesus! All for Jesus!

All my being's ransomed pow'rs,
all my thoughts and words and doings,
all my days and all my hours."

- Mary D. James (1810-1883), "All for Jesus!"

"Such lessons in the realm of ritual purity and impurity would have served as pictures of what was expected in the realm of moral purity and impurity. Leviticus 15 would have therefore reminded Israelites to seek moral purity in every aspect of life (especially in terms of sexual purity; cf. 1 Cor. 6:13-20), as well as to look to the Lord to provide moral cleansing (cf. Ps. 51:2). Believers today are to do the same, having a holy hatred of sin (Jude 23), as well as a firm assurance that the blood of Jesus can cleanse us - thoroughly and completely - of all unrighteousness (1 John 1:9)."

- Jay Sklar, Leviticus

"In seeking to understand these chapters it is important that we enter their world, rather than reading them condescendingly through the spectacles of contemporary liberal culture. Only so shall we unlock their meaning and avoid the erroneous idea that these regulations teach both that women are inferior to men and that sex is dirty and sinful. To be 'clean' meant to be in an appropriate state to draw near to God in worship. To be 'unclean' meant it would be improper to do so because of one's situation. The categories are to be equated neither with modern ideas of cleanliness or dirtiness, nor with being free from sin or full of sin. The regulations are designed to be good news, and spell out how people who found themselves in a state of uncleanness could rectify the situation and join with others again in worshipping God."

- Derek Tidball, The Message of Leviticus

"Our character and witness are a very public matter. How we handle our sexual life can either affirm or contradict what we believe about God. God gave himself to us unconditionally in Christ, and he calls us to give ourselves unconditionally to him. God does not offer or ask for intimacy without complete whole-life commitment. If you demand intimacy yet keep control of your life, you are a living contradiction of both the way God relates to you and the way we are to relate to each other in the Christian community."

- Tim Keller, "The Gospel and Sex"

We are really glad you could be with us this morning. If you have any questions, please don't hesitate to ask our pastor or one of the elders. They would be glad to help you in any way they can. You can call or reach us at: www.clarksvillepca.org.
