Quotes and Notes

"To the Christian believer, knowledge of God's omniscience brings the assurance that he has not been forgotten, but is being and will be cared for according to God's promise (Isa. 40:27-31). To anyone who is not a Christian, however, the truth of God's universal knowledge must bring dread, for it comes as a reminder that one cannot hide either oneself or one's sins from God's view (Pss. 139:7-12; 94:1-11; John 1:1-12)."

- J. I. Packer (1926-2020), Concise Theology

"The doctrine of God's omnipresence appropriately fills us with awe. In addition to the reverence it engenders, the doctrine also proves to be comforting. We can always be certain of God's undivided attention. We don't ever need to stand in line or make an appointment to be with God. When we are in God's presence, He is not preoccupied with events on the other side of the world. The doctrine is, of course, not at all comforting to the nonbeliever. There is no place to hide from God. There is no corner of the universe where God is not."

- R. C. Sproul (1939-2017), Essential Truths

It's two in the morning
And I'm still awake in my bed
And I can't shake these lies
They keep running around in my head
But what if I saw me, the way that You see me?
What if I believed it was true?
What if I traded this shame and self-hatred?
For a chance at believing You
That You knit me together
In my mother's womb
And You say that I've never been
Hidden from You
And You say that I'm wonderfully
Wonderfully made

- Ellie Holcomb, "Wonderfully Made"
