Quotes and Notes

"A biblical term used in reference to the unapproachable and mighty manifestation of the immediate presence of God. The biblical concept of glory carries with it connotations of inexpressible beauty and majesty. At the same time it implies an absolutely pure and terrifying "holiness" confronting the sinfulness of humans. In the NT, Christ is said to be the glory of God, although a glory that is at least partially veiled from sight, except for those who exercise faith in Christ. Christ's glory is especially a consequence of his resurrection from the dead and his ascension to the right hand of the Father."

- Pocket Dictionary of Theological Terms, "Glory"

"Jesus prays for the Father to glorify him. This means that the Son prays that the Father will so accept the Son's willing and obedient suffering as by that suffering both to declare his grace to men and to restore his Son to his preincarnate glory. The thought is staggering."

- D. A. Carson, The Farewell Discourse and Final Prayer of Jesus

"Jesus is showing us in the clearest possible way that our work in God's kingdom will be ineffective without our prayer for the Father to accomplish his purposes through his blessing on all we do...Jesus is teaching us that in all the things we do, it is not enough to be busy for the Lord, not enough to be active in doing his work, not enough to be committed to teaching his Word. In addition to the work we do, we are always to beg the Lord to do his work in people's hearts and minds. For without his work, without his blessing, all our labors will be in vain."

- Jerram Barrs, The Heart of Prayer

"What is prayer? Prayer is an offering up of our desires unto God for things agreeable to his will, in the name of Christ, with confession of our sins, and thankful acknowledgment of his mercies."

- Westminster Shorter Catechism (1647), Question 98
